R.S.Chikara Retd.; Mr.Saeed Naqvi Eminent Journalist; Mr. Indernath Chaudhary, Former Director General, Hindi Sahitya Sansthan, London and Barister Elike (Nigeria) graced us at many conferences & seminars in Shri Ram College of Law. Besides LLB & BALLB, other professional courses such as BTech, Polytechnic, BArch, MBA, PGDM, MSc (HSc, Biotech, Microbiology, CS), MCom, MCA, MEd, MPed, BJMC, BCA, BBA, BFA, BPE, and BSc (HSc, Biotech) with 6 sprawling campuses at Muzaffarnagar, Saharanpur and Bulandshahar districts, 11 colleges, more than 9000 students with highly reputed faculty members running under SRGC.

About Conference

Constitutions of a particular community were framed by their own people and in a many circumstances, they provided for a democratic model of governance to elect the government of their choice through exercise of their electoral rights. State with its sovereign power discharging many constitutional obligations and in discharging of these obligations it should be capable of enhancing sustainable human development, which ensures the welfare of the society. Further, fundamental concept started gaining ground that mere governance was not enough but in every country, the need for providing good governance. In India also the question staring all of us is how to close the gate of the portals of democracy for criminals. At the behest of the Election Commission of India, the Parliament has enacted certain laws that make it obligatory on the candidate contesting an election. All these have created a favourable environment for curbing criminalization of politics. But it is necessary to move further to debar criminals from contesting elections. It is true that, women are the key to success of our society & good governance, but nowadays it is observed that all over the world women are subjected to discrimination and their human rights are violated. An efficient, effective and democratic government is the best guarantor of social justice as well as an orderly society. It provides security and protection to women against discrimination and identifies crime, corruption and criminalization which are the major challenges for good governance. It is true that the process of judiciary & accountability of media has succeeded in punishing these people because person as well as media is not a mute spectator to this phenomenon. The States in international community is also facing a serious challenge to its authority from lawless elements like criminals and terrorist. The insurgency in India, England, USA & other countries, and rapidly expanding base of terrorist movement in the world constitute grave challenge to the law and democratic governance.

With the growth of democratic atmosphere throughout the world, it has been realized that the people are not only the subject but they have their legal rights; and the State would have to corresponding obligations towards them for securing and promoting their rights. But new methods have also been devised to fiddle away with the processes of law. Now, it is a mind boggling question as to why the characteristics and practices of democratic governance are not put more into reality for welfare of the State. Why are even the basic aspirations of a common man not met? Why is a common man in delusion? Why does a common man feel himself suffocated in the maze of ideal theories of this governance? Why is he losing faith in governance and taking law in his own hands? Is there anything wrong with our governance?

This Conference will be fully dedicated to dispel these apprehensions and devise the means to instill the confidence among the people by the valuable suggestions of the renowned personalities & the research scholars and to create a strong and rational civil society for enthusing ethical, moral and patriotic views in the minds of the people.
